Stennis Airport considered

Corrections officials to study Hancock site

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Mississippi Department of Corrections and State Building Commission officials visited Hancock County on Thursday to check a proposed site for a minimum security facility at Stennis International Airport. Michael Chambers, Southern Regional Coordinator of Community Service for the Mississippi Department of Corrections, said the proposed facility is similar to one almost completed in Gulfport.

"The facility will house 75 inmates, each of whom will be very closely screened by the Department of Corrections before being assigned," Chambers emphasized.

The spokesman continued, "The program offers tremendous benefits to local government and economy."

"During 1983, a similar facility located in Forrest County (Hattiesburg) provided some 144,236 man hours of work. When you figure a salary at a minimum wage, that is over a $500,000 saving," Chambers added.

Frank Alley, administrative assistant to the State's Building Commission, also was on hand checking the 175 by 1200 feet site located east of the hangars at Stennis.

Others in the party included Butch Cummings, director of the Forrest County facility; Monti Rhodes, area supervisor for the Department of Corrections; Sam Perniciaro and James Travira, Hancock County board of supervisors; and James C. DeBlanc, Hancock County Port and Harbor executive director.

The state officials indicated another facility is located at Magee, two others are under construction in Pascagoula and George County, (Lucedale) in addition to Gulfport's which is scheduled to open in May or early June.

A staff of 15 corrections employees run the facility with an estimated annual payroll of $220,000.

State officials recently appeared before the Hancock Supervisors seeking a location.

Alley indicated the building, if located in Hancock, would be a little over 9,000 square feet. A pre-engineered steel building would be constructed at an estimated cost of $500,000 and contain an administrative area, kitchen and dormitory.

"The property would be completely fenced and inmates would remain in the STENNIS-8-A

Landfill charges doubled, cities advised belatedly

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
Last month's discussions about imposing fees for large collections of trash from Waveland residents intensified Wednesday when city officials were advised that effective May 1 city costs for use of the Hancock County landfill in Catahoula will double, to $12,000 annually.

"Needless to say, I'm disappointed at the timing," Waveland Mayor John Longo commented.

"This should have been a budgeted item. It should have been budgeted by the county, too."

The aldermen briefly discussed the possibility of developing a landfill of its own, but City Attorney Lucien Gex said it would be a 'headache,' requiring approval from the health department, Bureau of Pollution Control, and possibly the Corps of Engineers.

Long asked the aldermen to think about charging residents for large collections of trash and how to structure a fee system.

"Let's think about it until our next meeting," he said.

"What I'm afraid of is we'll have those who will avoid pickup charges, and we'll find 25 refrigerators standing in the middle of the streets some morning."

Hancock Supervisor Sam Perniciaro Sr., who maintains the landfill, said Friday that Waveland pays 20 percent, Bay St. Louis 30 percent and the county 50 percent of the landfill budget.

The supervisors increased the budget for the landfill to $60,000 three or four years ago, before he took over landfill maintenance, he said, but apparently failed to inform the cities of the increase.

He said Waveland's share will be assessed at $12,000 per year beginning in May, and Bay St. Louis' share will be assessed at $18,000.

The cities will not be assessed for back charges, he said.

Perniciaro said he had discussed the LANDFILL-8-A

Bogus bill charges dismissed by Benvenuti

In a preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Joseph Benvenuti, uttering forgery charges were dropped against Neil Chris Sands, formerly of Bay St. Louis and now of Ocean Springs, and Mrs. Elizabeth L. Hood of Waveland.

The preliminary hearing was held Wednesday night in connection with a $20 bogus bill allegedly passed at the Delta Service on US-90, Bay St. Louis on March 6.

On Friday Judge Benvenuti said the case was dismissed against both parties for 'lack of evidence'.

Commuter service to begin April 29

The Gulf Coast Limited Rail Service is scheduled to begin April 29 with service from Mobile along the Coast to New Orleans, according to the Louisiana-Mississippi-Alabama Rapid-Rail Transit Commission.

Rapid Rail Commission members, City of Waveland officials and Amtrak officials with World's Fair mascot Seymore D. Fair gathered at the Waveland stop to officially announce the train's starting day on Monday.

The Gulf Coast Limited will provide daily rail service from Mobile to New Orleans, with an introductory round-trip ticket from Waveland being $16. Senior Citizens, military members, groups and handicapped are offered a 25 percent reduction on a continuous basis.

The City of Waveland funded construction of the Waveland station nearing completion which will provide a sheltered stop for rail passengers.

The train is scheduled to arrive in Waveland at 9:11 a.m. mornings and return at 7:43 p.m. evenings.

Tickets can be purchased at Hancock Travel, Shieldsboro Square, Bay St. Louis.

An inaugural run of the Gulf Coast Limited for local officials is scheduled for Saturday, April 28.

Final day of court term focuses on arraignments

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
Proceedings in Hancock County Circuit Court Friday were devoted primarily to arraignments, most of which are scheduled for trial during the July court term.

Circuit Judge James Thomas entered an order to commit Kenneth Gremillion, who has been incarcerated in the Harrison County jail, to the state hospital at Whitfield for a determination of his mental capacity.

Gremillion, 28, of Bay St. Louis, is charged with murder in the February stabbing death of Richard E. Kosbab of Bay St. Louis.

He was not arraigned Friday. Gremillion is being represented by Boyce Holleman.

Holleman is also representing Frank Turner, also known as Cecil Francis Turner, 51, of Bay St. Louis who is charged with murdering Lewis E. Meyers Sr. and aggravated assault in shooting Kenneth Meyers, both on Feb. 15.

Turner, who is out of jail on $35,000 bond, pled not guilty to both charges. His trial was set for July 30.

Yvonne Sills, court-appointed attorney for Robert Corkern, 21, of Shoreline Park on a charge of capital murder of Gerald Comiskey and a charge of murder of Keith L. McMillan, both on Jan. 27, filed a motion for severance of Corkern's trials from those of Allen Nicolaou, also charged in the Comiskey/McMillan deaths.

Sills also requested a second attorney be appointed to assist her in defending the capital murder charge.

Corkern, being held under $100,000 bond in Hancock County jail, pled not guilty to both charges.

Teenager killed in accident

By ELLIS CUEVAS
A three-wheeler accident claimed the life of a 14-year-old Standard Community resident early Friday morning, according to Ronald Peterson, Hancock County sheriff.

Kenneth Edward Allen was fatally injured while riding on Wolf Creek Road with his friend, Ronald Lee Cuevas, 13, of the Dedeaux Community at about 7:30 a.m., Peterson said.

"They apparently were riding the three-wheeler in the Standard area when a tire became flat on one of the wheels, and as they tried to negotiate a curve, the bike turned over," Peterson stated.

Allen was conscious and talking when his sister attempted to take him to a hospital but while driving through Pass Christian the boy's condition changed and she rushed him to the Pass Christian Police Department, Peterson said.

Hancock Coroner Harold Stiglet and Hancock deputies were summoned, and he was dead when they arrived, Peterson stated.

The sheriff continued, "X-rays determined Allen apparently suffered a ruptured spleen, according to a report Stiglet received from a doctor."

Cuevas apparently was uninjured and was at home Saturday morning, Peterson said.

Allen was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Allen of Standard Community. Dennis Tartavouille, Hancock County deputy sheriff, is in charge of the investigation.

PREPARING FOR WORLD'S FAIR—Seymore D. Fair was among Amtrak officials visiting Waveland on Monday. They were joined by local officials including, from right, Delmer Williams, Mississippi Rapid Rail Transit member; Herman Yarbrough, Bob Hubbard and Louis Smolensky, Waveland aldermen. The World's Fair mascot greeted several classes of students from Waveland Elementary School in addition to numerous residents. Amtrak's Gulf Coast Limited is scheduled to begin service on the trip from Mobile to New Orleans. Coastal officials are looking for assistance of the service when the fair ends. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

Hancock performers, craftsmen offered World's Fair showcase

Applications are still being accepted for performers and craftsmen to participate in a 'Salute to Hancock County' day, set for Aug. 20 in the Mississippi Pavilion at the New Orleans World's Fair.

The day is part of the Mississippi World's Fair Council, Inc. 'Salute to Cities-Counties.'

"This allows various cities and counties the opportunity to welcome visitors to the Mississippi Pavilion and the World's Fair, and also to showcase their local talent," says Pat Harvill, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce president.

The performers, who must be natives and/or residents of Hancock County, must be involved in the performing arts, such as drama, dance, music. They may be individuals or groups and must submit a resume, photograph (in costume) and a recent recording with the application," Harvill explains.

Craftsmen in the work of clay, fiber, glass, jewelry, leather, metal or wood, must all have original work, designed and executed by the applicant and of the highest professional quality, she says.

Applications may be obtained from the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce at 467-9048. The deadline for applications is April 30, 1984.

REDUCED FAIR TICKETS

The chamber's World's Fair committee is offering reduced tickets to the fair for that day only.

"This program has been developed by the Mississippi World's Fair Council, Inc.," says David Treutel, chamber World's Fair Committee chairman, "to allow cities and counties the opportunity to welcome visitors to the Mississippi Pavilion and the World's Fair, and to showcase their local talent."

"We would like as many Hancock Countians as possible to travel with us to the World's Fair site Aug. 20, and we will be providing discounted transportation and entrance tickets," he reports.

The package price is $30 per person, which will include a chartered Greyhound bus to the fair site for the day, an entrance ticket and a button promoting Hancock County, Treutel lists.

Reservations must be made in advance, and those interested are urged to contact the chamber office at 467-9048.

THE INTERCESSOR—John Duttine is Garvin, a young British writer who just wants some peace and quiet to do some research. But what he doesn't bargain for is the ghostlike crying of a child. Not only does he resent the noise, but he doesn't even like children to begin with. So goes the next scary story in the 'Shades of Darkness' mini-series on 'Mystery.' This story, 'The Intercessor,' can be seen at 10 p.m., Sunday, April 22, on Mississippi ETV.

MPC names director for Coastal Division

Paul DeNicola, Mississippi Power Company's Gulfport District general manager, has been named director of the Gulfport and Pascagoula/Moss Point districts.

A Gulfport native, DeNicola received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from Mississippi State University. He joined Mississippi Power Company in 1971 as a junior engineer in Meridian. He has served the Gulfport-based utility as an engineer, supervisor of training, manager of employee development and safety and manager of the Pascagoula/Moss Point District. He was named Gulfport District General Manager in August 1983.

DeNicola is chairman of the Gulfport Heart Fund and is a member of the Hancock County, Pass Christian, Long Beach and Gulfport Chambers of Commerce.

THE INTERCESSOR

John Duttine stars in May Sinclair's 'The Intercessor' on 'Mystery' at 10 p.m., Sunday, April 22 on Mississippi Educational Television.

In the program, the second in the 'Shades of Darkness' mini-series of scary stories, the only stipulation that Garvin, a British writer, makes when he seeks a quiet room in which to conduct some research is that there are no children to disturb his concentration. But although his wish has been granted, he hears the unmistakable sound of a child crying.

"The fact is I can't stand the sound of children," he says. "I am a bachelor, you see. They make such a noise."

And it would hurt me so.
A part of me has gone with you.

A part that can't return,

You left behind a legacy,
Of seven kids and me,
And when I look at all our kids,

In them it's you I see.

Artist's rendering of 'The Village at Henderson Point' upon completion scheduled for May 30

Henderson Point condo developers set May 30 completion date

W and W Holdings, Inc. of phase one of its condominium development, 'The Village at Henderson Point,' scheduled for completion on May 30.

The village includes 74 units and offers the only remaining stretch of Gulf Coast waterfront between Galveston Bay and Ocean Springs, on, not across from the beach, according to promoters.

The Village at Henderson Point is south of US-90 with no road to cross in order for a resident to reach Gulf waters.

W and W Holdings is offering a complex of buildings situated for weekend sailing craft from New Orleans, skiff fishermen looking for trout in the Bay of St. Louis, water skiers or motorboat enthusiasts.

Condominium living at The Village is like none other, says Henry Winters, president of W and W Holdings. "Our Henderson Point development is a year 'round development designed to attract families who wish to enjoy all the wonders of a theme park and yet be able to say they live there."

Amenities offered on the premises include wooden decks and walks, tennis courts, two outdoor swimming pools, spas, youth recreation and game room and an adult recreation room.

"You'll find cable television, an exercise room, a tree-shaded lagoon, barbecue picnic areas and five acres with nearly 180,000 square feet sand beach," Winters says.

"For your further convenience, there is 24-hour security, ample parking, a 600-foot wooden pier, private balconies overlooking the Gulf, and exterior elevators and stairs," he reports.

Insurance is included in association dues with the exception of content insurance, which is secured by the owner, Winters explains.

"You have a choice of 74 condominiums which offer a variation of 13 floor plans. The sizes of the units range from 630 square feet through 2,565," he notes.

The Village is scheduled for completion May 30, he adds.

Judge revokes probation for Hancock jail escapee

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT

Attorney Yvonne Sills, representing Mike Stringer, 22, of Bay St. Louis, was unsuccessful last week in attempting to persuade Circuit Judge James Thomas that Stringer was not guilty of jail escape on March 11.

Wednesday Thomas revoked Stringer's probation on charges of grand larceny and receiving stolen property and sentenced him to five years in the state penitentiary on each charge, to run concurrently—the original sentence imposed by Circuit Judge J. Ruble Griffin, Thomas noted.

"And if he receives an early release," Thomas ordered, "the Department of Corrections is to set up a payment schedule for court costs, attorney fees and other assessments against him."

Stringer was originally sentenced in January. A petition to revoke probation was filed March 19.

Probation and Parole Officer John Strickland testified that Stringer, who has been in jail since March 19, was in arrears for supervision fees for two months and also in arrears in payments to the Circuit Clerk for February and March.

He said Stringer also failed to report for his March meeting with his probation officer.

Justice Court Clerk Rhonda Patton testified that Stringer was issued a traffic citation Feb. 17 for an improper tag and driving while license was suspended or driving with no driver's license.

When he failed to appear in Justice Court Feb. 29 he was cited for contempt of court, she said, and she signed a warrant for arrest under the direction of Justice Court Judge Bruce Necaice.

Under cross-examination Patton said that Stringer was originally told to appear Feb. 22 but no court was conducted that day because both Necaice and she were out of town.

An order was given, she said, to "post a note on the door" that court would be continued to the 29th.

Testimony by other witnesses showed that Stringer was incarcerated in the Hancock jail about mid-morning March 10 and that he escaped during visiting hours between 1 and 2 p.m. March 11.

Stringer denied that he ever received a traffic ticket and indicated it was a friend who received it.

"He drove me around all the time after I was put on probation. They have officers who can verify that because they pulled him over thinking it was me."

But Constable Alfred Clayton Sick Jr., testifying Wednesday morning, positively identified Stringer as the man he had ticketed about 11:40 p.m. on Carroll Avenue in Bay St. Louis on Feb. 17.

Under cross-examination Sick admitted he did not obtain any identification from the driver that evening.

"I don't know how they can charge me with contempt for driving while my license was suspended," Stringer said, "because I never had a license."

"I went down three or four times to get one but I never passed the test."

"I'm not going to revoke his probation for the ticket or for contempt," Thomas said, but noted the jail escape as being a serious offense.

Sills pointed out that the maximum sentence for contempt of court is 24 hours.

"There was no jail escape because he was not lawfully confined at the time he left the premises," she argued.

"It may have been an illegal confinement but it bothers me that he'd walk off from custody," Thomas responded, adding he was not sure it was an illegal confinement.

"You violated your probation order by not reporting and by not paying supervision fees," he told Stringer.

"And you had no right to leave jail. That's a violation of probation. You had other legal recourses."

OTHER COURT MATTERS

In other court proceedings this week:

—James Stephen Schuman, 26, of Topeka, Kas., charged with possessing with intent to sell 105 pounds of marijuana, pled guilty, saying he came South "to see the ocean" and did not know his two companions had put the marijuana in his car until the first time they stopped for gasoline.

"I made a mistake and didn't go back," he said.

Thomas agreed, and sentenced him to four years in the state penitentiary and an $8,000 fine.

Kevin R. Ladner, 20, of Carrier and James L. Ferrill, 19, of Houston, Tex., pled guilty to grand larceny of tools in the Caesar community on Nov. 15, 1983.

Assistant District Attorney J.P. Compretta advised the court that during the same incident the two young men and a juvenile companion drove a dozer around the site in Caesar and rammed it into a logging truck, causing some $4916 damage.

Thomas sentenced each defendant to five years in the state penitentiary, suspended sentence and placed them on four years probation.

He ordered them to pay $350 each in attorney fees, $1,000 each to Farm Bureau Insurance Company who paid the truck damage claim, and one half each of the $250 insurance deductible and the $480 value of tools not recovered after the theft.

But Thomas asked Public Defender William Frisbie to file a motion to reconsider the sentence and told the defendants that if they make the payments ordered and have a good probation record for a year or so, he would consider cutting the probationary period to three years and giving them a non-adjudicated probation.

"If I resentence you to that," he said, "then once your probation is terminated you won't have any record at all."

After consulting with Circuit Judge Ruble Griffin, who presided over the original proceedings in two cases, Thomas:

—Sentenced Michael Mirandi, found guilty of violation of probation on a non-adjudicated charge of burglary of a dwelling, to ten years in the state penitentiary, then suspended sentence and placed him on probation for four years, ordered him to pay costs and to spend weekends for the next six months working for the Sheriff's Department.

—Sentenced Walter Seawright, found guilty of violation of probation after receiving non-adjudication of guilt, to a total of nine years in the state penitentiary for six various charges including driving under the influence, possession of marijuana and driving with a suspended license.

Seawright was also ordered to pay court costs and to spend weekends for six months working for the Sheriff's Department.

Non-adjudicated status was cancelled in both cases.

"What a good thing Adam had — when he said a good thing, he knew no one had said it before."

HANCOCK FARMER

Four of the most interesting television features produced by the "Farmweek" team in recent months will be shown in a special scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Monday, April 23 on Mississippi Educational Television. One profile features a Hancock County farmer.

Two profiles of Mississippi farmers will be included in the special. The first focuses on Samuel Miller, owner of a family farming operation in Coahoma County. Another is about Hancock County farmer Dickie Joe Ladner, who frequently hires women for jobs traditionally held by men.

One story is about the fledgling crawfish industry in Mississippi, which extolls the benefits of purchasing farm-raised crawfish and offers tips on cooking and eating this delicacy.

A second story is about the growing interest in commercial quail production in the state. Quail has become an increasingly popular item in restaurant menus over the past few years. Though profitable, the quail-raising business isn't without its difficulties, as "Farmweek" reports discovered.

"Farmweek" is co-produced by Mississippi ETV and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Women must establish equal credit identity

By Jan Kelly
Area Consumer
Management Specialist

Today, women play many roles in the course of life, with wife, mother, book-keeper and financial manager being the most common.

Establishing financial identity and keeping it throughout life is hard when women move in and out of the labor force, earn lower salaries and lose financial independence. Women must assume more responsibility in learning their credit rights.

CREDIT STATUS

Two things affect women's status—marriage and environment. With marriage, a man's credit status remains the same. Identity is established with insurance for the house, cars, property, and auto loans.

For the woman, financial identity can be lost if she uses her husband's name and his credit accounts. If she worked and continues to work, she should maintain her own credit.

Some ways to do this include:
—Keeping charge accounts in her name;

—Opening or continuing with a savings account in her name in addition to a joint one;

—Applying for a loan in her name only.

The economic environment is changing. Today, women are seen as equal participants for financial stability for the family.

Some 51 percent of today's labor force are women.

A credit file is needed by women in case of financial emergencies, such as death of husband, loss of job, or disability. Credit files, by law, must be shared upon request by the consumer.

Current legislation supporting women and credit state that creditors may not ask or use sex, age, or race as a basis for granting credit. Women may have credit accounts in their own name. Upon request, anyone must be told why credit was denied.

Establishing credit involves trust. The amount you can handle depends on the creditor and your financial picture. Women can be responsible for credit by using credit wisely.

All Things Bright And Beautiful

All creatures great and small
All things wise and wonderful
The good Lord made them all.

At Easter, the celebration of the renewal of faith in life's never-ending cycle, the young are a joyful reminder of God's faith in us.

With their acceptance of the miracle of creation, their belief in the goodness of those around them, their trust in the loving good will of all mankind — they lift our hearts and give meaning to our lives.

With its brightly-colored eggs, its glory of flowers, its joyful sounds of worship and praise, Easter is a perfect setting for the small creatures of the earth.

The rows of yellow ducklings in file behind their mothers, the fluffy-tailed rabbits, small pink ears alert, the gossamer-down baby chicks, the frisky colts tossing their manes in greening pastures — and our own small ones, dressed in their Easter finery, holding their baskets of eggs — touch our hearts.

And we rejoice again:
"Hallelujah! Hallelujah!
Christ the Lord is risen today!"

IN CONGRESS

By Cong. Trent Lott

Anti-Crime Package Held Hostage
"Americans are angry, and rightfully so."

Congressman Dan Lungren

What Americans are angry about is the refusal of the House majority leadership to deal with the growing problem of crime.

My good friend Congressman Dan Lungren of California wrote this telling paragraph on the current situation:

"In a country that prides itself on being a bastion of freedom, the terror of crime is still holding our people hostage. Our courts are jammed, our prisons are over-crowded and the credibility of our judicial system strained."

While crime control has largely been a local issue, there is evidence now that people want the federal government to take the lead in stricter enforcement and punishment.

For example, crime prevention was one of only two categories on my recent questionnaire where respondents said spend more money.

A national crime control policy can be especially useful in setting the standards for combatting such activities as drug trafficking and racketeering.

More than a year ago, President Reagan sent to Congress the Comprehensive Crime Control Act, a 42-point anti-crime package calling for strengthening the criminal code.

The Senate passed an omnibus package, which included 39 of those 42 provisions.

A single House subcommittee chairman, however, has refused to even schedule the bill for debate.

This is another of those unfortunate instances where a single Member of Congress, a Democrat subcommittee chairman, is able to keep the House from acting on legislation it probably would pass. The Senate vote to approve the bill was 91-to-1.

Briefly, here are a few highlights of the legislation:

"Judges would be allowed to consider a defendant's danger to the community in determining release before trial and sentencing; sentences for similar crimes would be consistent;

"The so-called 'exclusionary rule' would be reformed to allow admission of improperly-seized evidence when the officer acted in good faith; prosecutors' ability to confiscate the fruits of illegal activity would be enhanced;

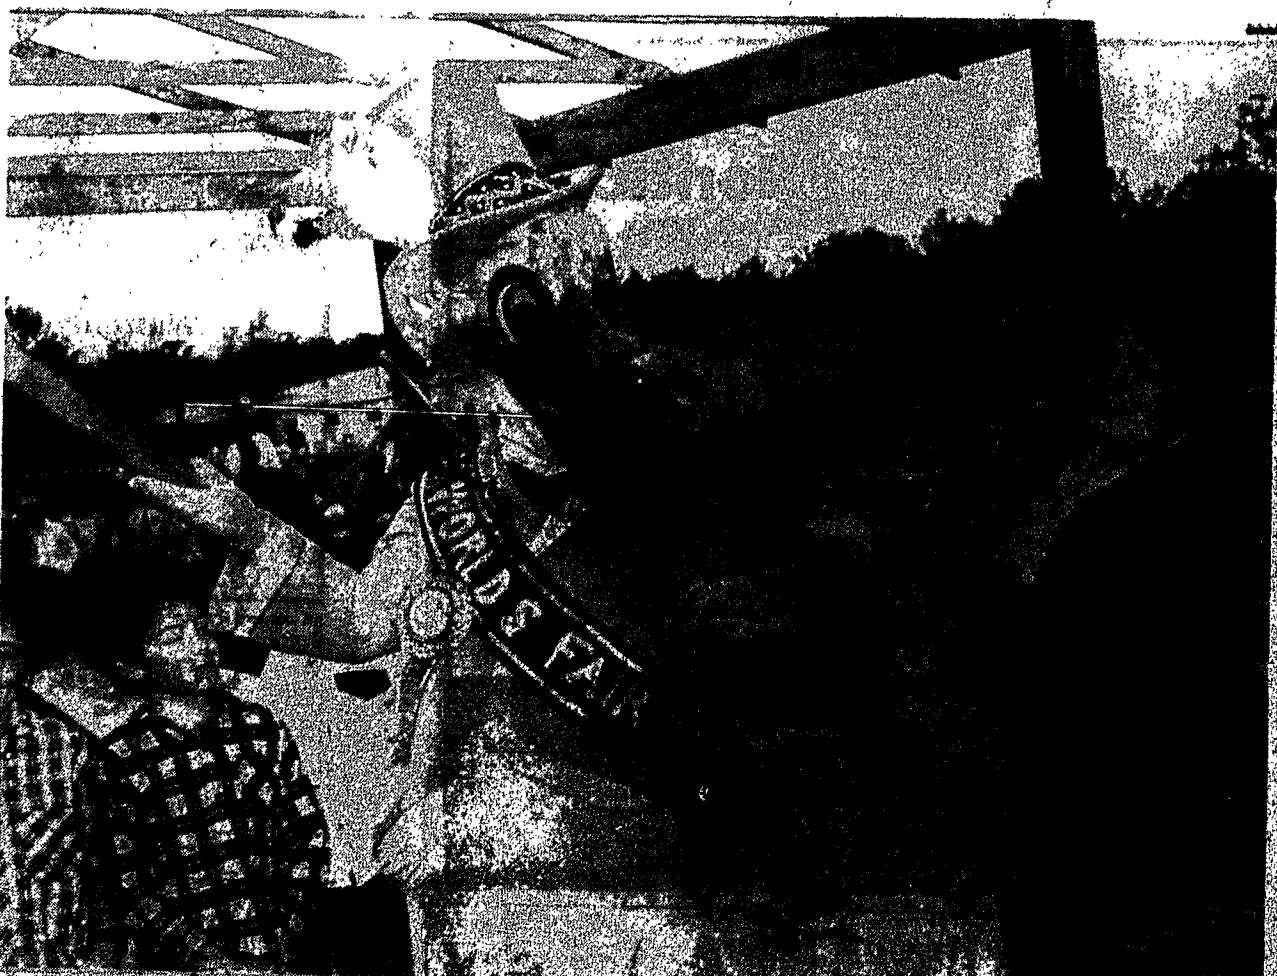

"The insanity defense would be curtailed; and

"The death penalty would be authorized in certain crimes.

The inaction of the House has not gone without notice. The editor of U.S. News and World Report, Marvin Stone, recently wrote that, "While Congress twiddled its thumbs, violent crimes increased by 54 percent between 1972 and 1982 alone."

"Every 25 minutes now in the U.S. there is a murder, every 59 seconds a robbery, every 9 seconds a burglary."

Continued inaction by the House will not improve on these terrifying statistics. I agree fully with Congressman Lungren and with President Reagan when they say the time has come to make the streets of American safe again.

'Drunken driving is selfish, and criminal'

The drunken driving enforcement effort conducted by the City of Pascagoula should be studied by all Mississippi law enforcement agencies, James L. Roberts Jr., commissioner of public safety, has urged.

"The DUI enforcement program in Pascagoula can be a model for any locality, city or county, with a drunken driver problem," Roberts said.

Pascagoula police recorded 1,026 DUI arrests in 1983 compared to 502 in 1982. The arrest rate is the highest per police officer in the nation, an accomplishment that has earned national attention.

"The impact of the program on people has been considerable," the commissioner said. "There was only one alcohol related fatality in the city in 1983 and the number of serious accidents involving drunken drivers dropped from 73 percent to less than 50 percent from 1982 to 1983."

A serious accident is defined as one in which one or more injured persons is hospitalized for one night or more.

Pascagoula police statistics show that five deaths were related to alcohol in 1981, and four fatalities in 1982 were alcohol related.

The city's program, known as Pascagoula Against Intoxicated Drivers (PAID), included specific enforcement goals, intensive public awareness campaigns and coordinated training and intelligence activities.

The project was begun when an analysis showed 90 percent of the fatal accidents occurring inside the city limits since 1977 were alcohol related.

"The police department made DUI enforcement its number one priority and found strong public support for the effort," Roberts said.

Eye-catching public relations gimmicks included displaying wrecked cars in key locations, 1940s-styled "Burmah Shave" signs along roadways and slide presentations, all carrying strong anti-drunk driving messages.

There was strong support from the local courts. More than 95 percent of drivers charged with DUI were convicted.

Pascagoula recently hosted a conference attended by 80 government and private sector leaders from eight southeastern states interested in combating drunken driving.

An outgrowth of the conference was a pledge to coordinate DUI enforcement activities by developing interjurisdictional agreements that ease efforts to arrest drunken drivers who cross county or state boundaries.

"This is the kind of coordination and teamwork that must be promoted by law enforcement agencies throughout the country," Commissioner Roberts said. "The Department of Public Safety intends to do all it can to sponsor a coordinated effort within Mississippi."

The Pascagoula experience over the past two years has demonstrated that more and more citizens are seeing drunken driving for what it is, a selfish, inconsiderate and criminal activity," he added.

Three Diamond Jubilarians to be honored at Stanislaus

Celebrating their Diamond Jubilees as Brothers of the Sacred Heart are Brothers Bernon Walsh, Canisius Schell, and Pascal Ackerman.

Easter Sunday at 10:30 a.m. a Community Mass will be celebrated at the St. Stanislaus High School Chapel honoring the jubilarians.

At noon that day, there will be a dinner and a jubilee celebration in their honor in the school dining hall.

All three men entered the juniorate at Metuchen, N.J. in 1924, making their studies there, taking their religious habit there, and pronouncing their first vows there in St. Joseph Chapel.

Walsh, a Newark, N.J. native, had his first teaching assignment as teacher and coach in Donaldsonville, La. in 1928 where he spent a total of 19 years. Four years later, he and Schell pronounced final vows in Bay St. Louis.

Walsh was appointed athletic director in Alexandria, La. and later in Donaldsonville, also serving as director in both places. He spent 21 years at Catholic High in Baton Rouge, La., where he is currently in semi-retirement, helping with maintenance around the residence.

Born in Pittsburgh, Pa., Schell began teaching in 1927 at St. Rose of Lima in Brooklyn, N.Y.

In the course of his long career, he has been stationed in all of the brothers' schools currently open except Brother Martin High School, although he taught at Cor Jesu High School in New Orleans and St.

Aloysius which later consolidated into Brother Martin High in 1969.

Although retired from the classroom since 1975, Schell has been quite active with his innovative 'Project Do.'

In this program high school students at St. Stanislaus visit nursing homes and child care centers under his supervision to bring joy into the lives of the elderly and the very young by participating with them in various activities.

In addition to his work with 'Project Do,' brother helps with maintenance of the brothers' cemetery in Bay St. Louis.

Ackerman was born at McKenney, Ky. Unlike the other jubilarians, he devoted much of his career to tailoring as he supplied members of the province with their religious habit.

His first assignment was at Metuchen, where he labored a total of 19 years.

In Natchez, at D'Evereux

Hall, brother performed prefecting duties in the late 1940's. He spent the 1960's dividing his time between Natchez and the Brothers' Scholasticate in Spring Hill, Ala.

Since 1970, Ackerman has worked at St. Stanislaus, serving in various capacities, chiefly as tennis coach and sacristan.

Telephone Pioneers' drug awareness program slated April 25-26 at Coliseum

Kids Against Drugs conference sponsored by the Telephone Pioneers of America April 25 and 26 at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center is on schedule, according to Mrs. Sybil Allen, project chairperson.

Tickets are available at most schools. Some 4,000 young people in grades 7-12 are expected, she said. "The response has been great," Allen said. "It is time the young people of Mississippi learned the facts about alcohol and drugs from the experts. Kids Against Drugs is just that—a fact-finding conference by kids and interested adults for kids and interested adults," said Allen.

"At KAD, junior and senior high school students will have the opportunity to get the facts about the consequences of 'doing drugs and drinking.' Some sixth graders may benefit from the conference, too," she added.

The two-day conference will feature upbeat audiovisual presentations, music and enlightening discussions from professionals in related fields.

The program is designed to alert teens to the influences they face every day enticing them to "do drugs."

They will learn that the feelings they experience as teenagers are normal and can be dealt with without using drugs or drinking.

Current information on various drugs, including cocaine, marijuana and alcohol, will be discussed. And KAD will offer young people positive alternatives and ideas for becoming involved in helping curb the drug culture in their own schools, clubs, and communities.

"The success of any war on drugs depends greatly on our young people. KAD is the place to start. Register today," Allen urged.

Facts that should be considered are:

—The illegal drug industry a $100 billion a year business would rank No. 2 on the Fortune 500 list.

—The paraphernalia industry seeks children between the ages of six and 12 as a target market.

—In Mississippi, 3 out of 4 high school seniors drink beer and wine; 2 out of 4 drink hard liquor.

quor; 1 in 4 smoke pot; 1 in 10 smoke several joints a day; and those smoking pot started between the ages of 10 and 12.

—A teen-ager can become an alcoholic within 6 to 18 months. It could take an adult following a similar drinking pattern 5 to 15 years to become an alcoholic.

—The death rate is decreasing in all age groups except teens.

The speakers will include: —Dr. David Tilley of Atlanta, Ga., director, Straight, Inc.

Straight is a non-profit family oriented drug rehabilitation program for youthful drug abusers.

Tilley graduated from the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga with a BS in secondary education and received his master's in educational administration from Georgia State University.

—Dr. Richard Garey, associate professor of psychiatry and neurology, Tulane University School of Medicine, who is a member of the "T's and Blues" Task Force for the State of Louisiana.

He was an honors graduate in biology and chemistry from Colorado State University and received his PhD in physiology and biophysics from the same university.

—John Novak, president, Novak Enterprises.

Novak is a lecturer and consultant who has assembled an entertaining and unique program designed to create a personal awareness of the dangers of alcohol and drug abuse.

—Eddie Hodges, former movie actor with a MS in counseling, USM; consultant, Gulf Coast Mental Health Center; specialty is drug and alcohol abuse, both sides of the story.

Tickets are available at most schools. Reservations must be made by April 20, call 388-9935.

Two charges dismissed against Cunningham

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
Charges against Jay B. Cunningham for armed robbery and kidnapping were dismissed with prejudice Thursday by Circuit Judge James Thomas.

Cunningham, 28, of New Orleans is serving a life sentence for rape in the incident that also involved the robbery and kidnapping.

He is currently being held in Hancock County jail while that conviction is being appealed.

Statutes require that persons be tried with 270 days after being arraigned on criminal charges, and Cunningham's attorney, William Frisbie, noted that the 270 days elapsed some time ago.

He also said he understood the rape victim, principal witness in the robbery and kidnapping cases, did not want to return from Louisiana to 'face the trauma of another trial.'

Frisbie also moved unsuccessfully for a new trial for Cunningham's conviction last week for an Oct. 21 jail escape.

He argued that the jury returned from the jury room too quickly to have given 'due deliberation' to the case.

He also complained about an announcement to the jury that Cunningham had earlier been convicted of rape.

But Thomas said that was an integral part of the state's burden of proof.

"The state must prove a prior conviction," he said, "and the state must prove escape."

Thomas noted that his instructions to the jury were short and definitive and were read to the jurors before they went to the jury room.

"I think we could all see there was not much for them to deliberate on," he said.

State House approves Waveland tax increase

The Mississippi House of Representatives recently approved a measure authorizing a one-cent city sales tax in Waveland to finance a $551,733 judgment against the city resulting from a lawsuit in U.S. District Court in Jackson.

The judgment, however, is being appealed to the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court in New Orleans, Waveland and City Attorney Lucien Gex reported recently.

Rep. Walter James Phillips of Bay St. Louis who authored the measure at the request of Waveland's city government said the tax wouldn't go into effect unless the case is lost.

U.S. Magistrate John Countiss ordered Waveland to pay The Travelers

Indemnity Co. $551,733 on Feb. 28 in connection with an approximate 10-year dispute over construction of a Waveland sewage system in the 1970s.

The tax would be levied if the city issues bonds to pay the judgment won by Travelers should the city lose its case on appeal. The tax proceeds then would be used to pay the principal and interest on the bonds.

The bill provides for a referendum on the extra one-cent tax, which would be tacked on to products and services covered by the state's 6 percent sales tax. A referendum would be held if 20 percent of Waveland voters petitioned against levying the tax.

The measure now goes to the Senate.

Auto-motorcycle collide in Bay

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The driver of a vehicle which struck a motorcycle was issued a citation for causing an accident, according to Troy Jackson, Bay St. Louis patrolman.

The accident occurred Friday morning on South Beach Boulevard. Jackson said, "Louis Garrett of Waveland was the driver of an auto which struck motorcyclist Marcellus Jones of Bay St. Louis from the rear."

Jones apparently received injuries and reported to Hancock General Hospital for checking, Jackson stated.

Capt. Robert Butler also responded to the accident, and an investigation is being conducted by Detective Joe Pica, Jackson reported, adding a preliminary hearing for Garrett is scheduled for April 25 before Joseph Benvenutti, Bay St. Louis municipal judge.

County Agent's Notes

By Lee Taylor

EARLY CORN

Planting corn early is perhaps the best method of taking advantage of Mississippi weather patterns and getting ahead of diseases and insects.

The primary limiting factor in making high corn yields is water. At peak water-use periods corn will use over two inches per week. For a fairly long period of time corn will use approximately 1.5 inches per week. Therefore, it is important to plant corn before high precipitation periods.

Studies also have shown that daily temperatures exceeding 90 degrees for any length of time reduces corn yields. High temperatures affect pollen viability and usually dry silks faster, thus reducing grain set. Early plantings give corn the best chance to mature before high temperatures become a problem.

Corn will grow at fairly low temperatures when compared to sorghum or cotton. Corn seed will germinate and grow slowly at 50 degrees. High quality seed can be planted a week or so before soil temperatures are favorable for germination, then when soil warms up corn will emerge.

Planting on a slightly raised bed will provide up to three degrees warmer seedbed. This also prevents water from standing on top of the row and drowning seed and young seedlings.

Planting corn in late March and early April will also eliminate many insect problems. However, soil insects can cause trouble, so use in-the-row insecticides to control these stubborn pests.

Diseases are not as prevalent in early corn because insects are the main transmitters.

To achieve yield potential, plant corn early on soils that have good internal drainage. Consequently, best corn-growing soils are the well-drained, sandy loam and deep loam soils of the state.

INSURANCE BENEFIT CHANGES

Hancock County farmers whose crop yields are consistently above average will no longer have to settle for insurance payments based on the records of less productive farmers.

This is the result of changes being made in the federal crop insurance program that should improve the program for more efficient producers.

Crop insurance officials are working to individualize crop coverage so it will be more in line with a farmer's production history. This year, cotton and rice policies will use individual production histories in setting yield guarantees.

In 1985, corn and grain sorghum policies will be written with individual production histories as the basis for determining yield guarantees. Most major crops will be under the individualized program in the next 18 months.

OVERSEEDED PASTURES

Proper management is needed on overseeded bahiagrass and bermudagrass pastures to use the grazing produced by ryegrass or ryegrass-clover plantings and not penalize the early summer production of the permanent pasture.

Overseeded pastures are finally beginning to grow and produce as expected. Soon many of these pastures will start to get ahead of the cattle grazing. More cattle should be added so overseeded areas are not allowed to grow up.

By keeping them close, the bermudagrass and bahiagrass can begin to grow along with the ryegrass. It is best to concentrate cattle on the overseeded areas until they are controlled.

The high cost of producing winter pastures dictates that all forage grown be used as grazing or stored feed. For highest quality ryegrass hay, harvest when first seedheads appear. Hay harvested no later than the dough stage of the oldest seedheads still makes good quality hay.

Where hay must be harvested from overseeded pastures, cut this as early as possible to reduce competition to the permanent sod.

Concentrating cattle to graze overseeded areas, until the ryegrass fades out in early May, allows summer grass on other pastures to become well established. Overseeded pastures can then be clipped, the manure spread and rested for several weeks as cattle are rotated to the ungrazed pastures.

Any surplus bermudagrass and bahiagrass growth should be harvested for hay if it is relatively weed free. The first growth from perennial grasses in the spring is the highest quality forage produced during the season.

On pastures where clovers are growing in combination with overseeded ryegrass, heavy grazing pressure should be continued to maintain a grass-clover balance. When you allow clovers to grow up to produce a seed crop, the permanent grass is often severely set back and a lot of quality forage can be lost.

Before allowing clovers to grow up and produce seed, consider the value of this forage for grazing or hay against the cost of replanting.

Pastures must be managed like other field crops if they are to produce a profit.

TERMITE INSPECTION

Termite swarming season usually begins in April. This is a perfect time for Hancock County homeowners to check for termite activity.

Inspect for tubes built by termites and clean up around the foundation of the house.

Remove close growing plants that hide the foundation and might provide access for termites. Also remove firewood or other wood in contact with the soil to help prevent termite entry into the structure.

Homeowners who are remodeling or adding a room should pretreat for termite control. Pretreatment is the easiest and cheapest termite protection available.

If the existing structure is under contract with a pest control company and additions are made without notifying the company, the contract could be cancelled.

NEWSPAPERING

'City News,' a humorous, off-beat film about the secret desires of the publisher-editor of a struggling underground newspaper to create and draw a cartoon strip, is the next production on 'American Playhouse.'

The award-winning film can be seen at 9 p.m., Tuesday, April 24 on Mississippi Educational Television.

'City News' is the first feature film from the production team of David Fishelson and Zoe Zimman. It has won a number of awards, including honors from film festivals in Athens, Edinburgh, Florence, Munich, Dallas, Atlanta and Seattle. It also was the best Low-Budget Feature at the Houston International Film Festival.

In 1981, Zimman received $5,000 from a lawsuit that has been pending for five years. Immediately, the two sat down and polished up the script for 'City News.' With another $5,000 scraped together over years of employment, the film went into production. They were able to bring in the film for under $100,000 because all of the actors and crew members worked for only screen credit and, in some cases, for a percentage of the profits.

The story focuses on Tom, Domino (Elliot Crown) who meets a mysterious young woman (Nancy Cohen) in a local tavern. He realizes that she is the right subject for the cartoon strip he has always wanted to draw.

CHECKING SITE—State Corrections officials visited Stennis International Airport Thursday to check a proposed site for a minimum security facility. Those at the airport included, from left, Sam Pernicelli, District Four supervisor; James Travira, District Five supervisor; Michael Chambers, southern regional coordinator community services, Mississippi Department of Corrections; Frank Alley, administrative assistant to the State Building Commission; Montl Rhodes, area supervisor for the Department of Corrections; James C. DeBlanc, Hancock County Port and Harbor executive director; and Butch Cummings, director of the Department of Corrections Hattiesburg facility. The county leaders were approached several months ago by the Department of Corrections for a site to possibly construct a facility to house some 75 minimum security inmates. Chambers said the majority of them would come from the immediate area. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

enclosure during the night. The only exception would be during emergencies and then they would be under direct supervision of a correction's officer," Chambers stated.

Chambers reported, "The inmates would be used as a work force for county, and municipalities Monday through Friday, and on a voluntary basis for weekends."

The type of minimum security inmates who would not be placed in the facility are sex offenders, murderers, arsonists and anyone twice convicted of a violent crime, Chambers said.

Corrections officials indicated the cost of housing an inmate in this type of a facility is about 25 to 35 per cent less than at a maximum security facility.

If the facility is approved, the five-plus acres would be leased for 25 years by the state from the county with an option to renew, Alley allowed.

"Today governmental agencies are all having problems with funding, and this would sure be a help for Hancock, Bay St. Louis and Waveland officials to provide services they are now having to restrict because of a lack of funds," Chambers stated.

The State Building Commission's representative said his group would consider the site at Stennis at their May meeting.

matter personally with Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett and after unsuccessful attempts to reach Longo, had talked to a Waveland alderman.

Also Tuesday, the aldermen took further steps in preparation for the operation of the World's Fair Amtrak train which will stop in Waveland.

They approved a lease with Seaboard Railroad System for a parcel of land 20 feet by 700 feet to be used as the passenger parking lot and Amtrak depot station.

They also authorized Longo to arrange for two Waveland identification signs for the depot.

In other beautification items, the aldermen approved repainting of tourist information signs and briefly discussed the need to paint City Hall and the fire station.

In other business the aldermen: —Authorized a $75 contribution to Teresa Ladner, Pearl River College student, to help with expenses for her campaign for Southern Region vice president of DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America).

—Agreed to contribute some $500 toward a television program to be shown in the Mississippi Pavilion during the six-month World's Fair.

Longo said the Bay St. Louis City Council and the Hancock County Board of Supervisors are also being asked to contribute to the program promoting Hancock County and its communities.

—Approved the establishment of regular meeting dates for the Planning and Zoning Board, to be held on the last Tuesday of each month beginning May 29.

Local Olympic hopefuls score second place

Bay-Waveland Yacht Club's Olympic hopeful Dennis Stieffel placed second in a field of 23 in the West Coast's Soling Championship Regatta held last weekend at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco, Calif.

The winner was Ed Baird of St. Petersburg, Fla., who recently tied for the United States Soling championship title with Californian Robbie Haynes.

Stieffel and his crewmen Randy Santa Cruz and Rod Stieffel represented the Gulf Yachting Association in the six-race series sailed on San Francisco Bay.

They were leading the series going into the final race; however, a close cover by Baird forced the Gulf Coast crew into the bottom of the fleet.

The name of the boat being sailed by the local sailors is 'Spirit of Bay St. Louis'.

Their next stop will be Long Beach, Calif., where they will be practicing ocean sailing in preparation for the Olympic trials scheduled May 12-25.

The team originally qualified for a spot in the Olympic trials in the United States Championship Regatta held at St. Petersburg, Fla. in March.

Arraignments

Nicolau was ordered two weeks ago to be transferred to Whitfield for psychiatric examination prior to arraignment.

Lozardo Raul Rajas of Miami, Fla. and Junco Ivan Martinez of Las Vegas, Nev., both represented by counsel and accompanied by an interpreter, pled not guilty to charges of possession of a controlled substance with intent to distribute.

Their attorneys asked that bond, set at $250,000 each, be reduced, noting the two also face federal charges with federal bond for Rajas set at $200,000 and bond for Martinez at $250,000.

The state objected to bond reduction and Thomas told defense attorneys to file a motion for reduction.

Rajas was apprehended by law enforcement officials in Hancock County, Martinez in New Orleans.

Codefendants Virginia Guilbeau of Firetower Road and her son Gregory Ladner, arrested after officials confiscated some 5,000 pounds of marijuana from Guilbeau's residence March 24, were not arraigned Friday.

A plea of not guilty was entered for Doris Ellis of Bay St. Louis, charged with sale of a controlled substance and out of jail on a $4,500 bond, and Public Defender William Frisbie was appointed by Circuit Judge James Thomas to represent her. Trial was set for July 19.

A plea of not guilty was entered for Edwin Perrot Jr., out on $6,000 bond and charged with assaulting a police officer. His trial was set for July 24.

Frisbie was also appointed to represent Oliver L. Malley of Kiln, out of jail on $20,000 bond, who pled not guilty to two charges of incest.

Malley's trial was set for July 11. Charles Teague, 32, of Waveland pled not guilty to a charge of jail escape from Hancock County Jail Oct. 21 while serving a ten-year sentence for a burglary conviction. His trial was set for July 12.

John Travis Young, 15, of Bogalusa, La., Archie Boyd Blackwell III, 17, of Bogalusa, La. and Bert Lee Hall, 19, of Lumberton, all pled not guilty to charges of armed robbery of Sellers Grocery March 20.

All three asked to be tried separately and individually.

Their trial was set for July 24. Thomas also reduced bond for Hall to $5,000.

Young and Blackwell are out of jail under $10,000 property bonds each.

Assistant District Attorney J.P. Compretta reported that Robert Mitchell, 20, of Bay St. Louis, charged with escape from Hancock jail March 11, and Robert Poyadou II, 19, charged with uttering forgery Feb. 4, are both incarcerated in the state penitentiary at Parchman.

They will both, he said, be brought back to Hancock County to face charges against them during the July court term.

Also Friday, Stephen Niolet, 22, of Pass Christian pled guilty to two charges of forging prescriptions for drugs and attempting to have them filled at Big B Discount Drugs in Waveland and one charge of possession of a forged prescription.

Thomas placed Niolet, who has no prior convictions and has completed a drug/alcohol abuse program, on probation for two years and fined him $600 plus court costs, payable at $50 per month.

MRS. BARRY JOSEPH SALLINGER

Evening ceremony unites Sallinger, Kurzweg

The Church of the Most Holy Name of Jesus in New Orleans was the setting for the Nuptial Mass which united in marriage Marie Alane Kurzweg, daughter of Mrs. Charles Haynes Kurzweg and the late Mr. Kurzweg, and Barry Joseph Sallinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sallinger of Bay St. Louis.

The bride was formally gowned in off-white schiffli embroidered English net over satin, the intricately embroidered fitted bodice featured a high neckline and small, scalloped collar. The court-length train was enhanced by a sash of satin at the waist tied in back with long, trailing streamers. The long puffed sleeves were banded at the wrist with schiffli embroidery. Miss Kurzweg wore a matching wreath of embroidered schiffli and silk, holding a double illusion veil caught in folds with narrow satin ribbons. Her bouquet was of fresh bridal white roses and stephanotis with greenery.

The ceremony was performed by Reverend James Pillar of Loyola University of the South. Cousins of the bride, Michelle St. Raymond and Madeleine Graham, were hostesses and Michelle St. Raymond and Chris Charlton read passages from the Bible. Appropriate music was provided by organist, Mr. Drew Montegut and vocalist, Miss Gloria Rabito.

Large baskets of white baby's breath and greens surrounded candelabra down the center aisle with large white and green flower arrangements on the main altar providing the setting for the candlelight wedding.

The bridal attendants were sisters of the bride: Anne Kurzweg, Susan Kurzweg, Kim Kurzweg and Patricia Kurzweg, all of New Orleans; and sisters of the groom, Lori Sallinger of Long Beach and Fran Seal of Slidell, La.

The bridesmaids wore long burgundy taffeta ruffled off-shoulder puffed sleeve gowns and carried arm bouquets of variegated burgundy and white lilies and stephanotis with baby's breath and greens tied with matching satin bow ribbons.

The flower girl, Lindsey McQueen, and ring bearer, Christopher McQueen of Picayune, Miss. are niece and nephew of the groom.

Serving as ushers were David Joyce and Christopher Charlton of New Orleans.

The groomsmen were Kevin McCarroll of Baton Rouge, La., Brian Fauchaux and Dale Fauchaux of New Orleans, all cousins of the groom and John Grundy of Mt. Charleston, Nev.; Blane Coward of Pass Christian and Jay Fenasci of New Orleans.

The bride's mother, nee Louise Gaudet, chose for the occasion a burgundy silk organza dinner dress embroidered in silver and gold with blending orchid corsage. The groom's mother, the former Yvonne Claire Blanchard, was gowned in pale mauve lace and chiffon with matching orchid corsage.

Special guests were the grandparents of the bride couple, Mrs. Edward H. Blanchard of New Orleans and Mr. John V. Gaudet, also of New Orleans.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the New Orleans Lawn Tennis Club. Before leaving for their honeymoon in Mexico, the bride changed to a silk dress in gray trimmed with burgundy. Her accessories were burgundy, and she wore a corsage of white orchids.

The bride is a graduate of Loyola University of the South in New Orleans and is presently employed by KATC-TV in Lafayette, La. The groom is a graduate of Loyola University of the South and received a juris doctor degree from the University of Mississippi. He is an associate with the law firm of Logan and Viguerie in Lafayette, where they will reside.

Nuptial music was presented by Patricia Hille, organist, and Lana Noonan, soloist. Baskets of pink and white spring blossoms adorned the sanctuary.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal white gown fashioned with Queen Anne neckline, fitted bodice with empire waistline enhanced with venise lace and seed pearls. She wore a lace covered derby style hat with attached fingertip veil of illusion.

The bride carried a crescent shaped silk bouquet interspersed with teal and pink satin ribbons.

Janie Weston of Edmunds, Wash. attended her sister as maid of honor.

Bridesmaid was Brenda Bourque of Metairie, La. The attendants were attired in teal blue tea length dresses and carried lace fans adorned with pink silk flowers, which were designed by the bride's father. Brandi Lind of Prairieville, La., daughter of the groom, was junior bridesmaid. She wore a white tea length gown accented with pink ribbons and carried a heart decorated with pink silk flowers.

Williamson, Shanahan wed

In an afternoon double ring ceremony on March 24 in the Long Beach Missionary Baptist Church, Ramona Lee Shanahan, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. David Shanahan of Bay St. Louis, became the bride of Bryan Keith Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Williamson of Long Beach. Rev. David Shanahan, father of the bride, performed the ceremony with Rev. James W. Beech assisting.

The couple repeated their vows before an arch entwined with ivy and camellias. On each side of the altar were arrangements of pink and purple azaleas, bridal wreath and fern. Two large pots of green fern hung in the background. Three tiered candelabra were placed on each end of the piano with a small arrangement of azaleas, bridal wreath and fern in the center.

Nuptial music was furnished by Rev. Terrell Eaton who played and sang "O Promise Me" and "Whither Thou Goest."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of chantilly lace over bridal taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a Queen Anne neckline accented with jeweled lace appliques. Her full flowing skirt had tiers of chantilly lace which swept to a chapel train. A small band of rosebuds and baby's breath held the elbow length veil of illusion in place. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, daisies, stephanotis and baby's breath surrounded with lace, satin bows and satin streamers.

Tina Shanahan attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Debra Williamson and Tracey Utley. Each wore a floor length gown of lavender knit trimmed with chiffon ruffles, embroidered lace and baby pink daisies. They carried bouquets of lavender violets, white stephanotis and baby's breath surrounded by satin bows and streamers. A white trimmed hat and white gloves completed the maid of honor's ensemble and the bridesmaids wore white carnations with satin bows and streamers in their hair.

The best man was Jerry Williamson, father of the groom. Groomsmen were James F. Beech and Wayne Chapman.

Mrs. Shanahan chose an orchid and white striped dress with matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Williamson wore a blue dress with matching accessories.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church following the wedding. The hall was decorated with azaleas, bridal wreath, camellias, and streamers.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and was centered with a three-tiered heart shaped wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Crystal candelabra holding flaming tapers were placed on each side of the cake.

For traveling, the bride chose a light gray suit with matching accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

After a short honeymoon trip, the couple will make their home in Bay St. Louis.

Flag Burning ceremony staged by NS DAR

By Joe Pilet
Vice Regent
Friendship Oak
Chapter NS DAR

In an impressive ceremony conducted by members of the Friendship Oak Chapter, NS DAR, and held on the campus of Gulf Park College in Long Beach recently, an American flag, was burned in accordance with flag code regulations.

The flag, destroyed because of its age and worn condition, once proudly unfurled daily on the lawn of John McKenna of Highland Drive in Bay St. Louis. McKenna served in the United States Navy and feels very strongly a respect for Old Glory. He maintains a standing order for flag replacements as frequently as necessary.

During the ceremony, written by Mrs. F. North Ross, regent of the Sgt. Caleb Hopkins Chapter of Springfield, Ill., 14 members of the Friendship Oak Chapter together with natively uniformed Brownie Scouts from a Long Beach Troop with their leader, Mrs. George Eyrich, assisted in cutting the flag apart as they recited highlights from the history of the American flag. "The flag has waved over parades, schools, public buildings and private homes. Countless Americans have given their lives for it. We shall not desecrate our flag in any manner. We shall retire it in a manner which shows our pride and our love."

In a formal procession the group marched to a glowing urnace and dropped each segment of the flag into the blaze. The American Creed and pledge of Allegiance were recited in unison.

Souvenir flags were given to each Brownie together with the DAR Flag Code Pamphlet. A cake in the form of the Betsy Ross flag was cut and punch was served. Hostesses included Mrs. John Elkins, regent, Mrs. Nunez C. Pilet, vice regent, and Mrs. Robert C. Willemis who serves as corresponding secretary.

Taking part in the ritual were Mmes. Ruth Holley, Hazel Erhard, Mark Payne, Larry R. Lisenbee, Cathrine Shedd, James E. Young and James Thomas, all of Long Beach; also Mmes. W. J. Gemmel and H. S. Walker Sr. of Diamondhead, Mrs. Elsie Day Hutto of Gulfport, and Mrs. P. R. Davenport and Theresa Wheeler of Bay St. Louis. Brownie Scouts assisting were Elissa Eyrich, Julie Willemis, Helen Palmer and Kelli Dickerson.

At the conclusion of formalities members of the chapter met in the College Reception Room where the regent presided at the group's first birthday celebration. Organized just a year ago beneath the Friendship Oak, the chapter plans a tradition of holding one meeting each year beneath the branches of this historic tree.

The fledgling chapter may be justifiably proud of its first year's accomplishments which include National Honor Roll, and numerous contributions toward DAR objectives including historic preservation, promotion of education and patriotic endeavors.

Final meeting for the year will be a luncheon to be held on May 7 at the Ramada Inn of Long Beach, at which time newly elected officers will be installed, awards given and delegates from the Continental Congress will give reports.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY CAKE—Beth Elkins of Long Beach, regent of the Friendship Oak Chapter, NS DAR displays the organization's first anniversary cake which was part of the group's recent celebration and official flag burning conducted on the University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Park Campus in that city. Bay resident is contributor to university publication

'UNO Prisms,' a collection of personal reflections on the University of New Orleans and its early days, has been published by the university on the occasion of its 25th anniversary academic year.

A reception honoring the book's editor, Dr. Jerah Johnson, and its contributors will be held Wednesday, April 25 from 4 to 7 p.m. in the gallery lounge of the UNO University Center.

The authors will be available to autograph copies. The reception is free and open to the public, a UNO spokesman says.

'UNO Prisms' includes 12 autobiographical sketches written by UNO Founding Chancellor Homer L. Hitt of Bay St. Louis; five early administrators, Dr. Joseph G. Tregle Jr., Lamar Cooper, Richard Burleson, Edgar Burks and Dr. George Branam; three early faculty members, Drs. Louis Trefonas, George Reinecke and Serphie Leyda; and three former students, Raphael Cassimere Jr., Don Donnelly and Mitchell Porche.

Johnson, who is a professor of history, wrote the 13th piece, forming a narrative framework into which he has set the other 12 prisms.

Called by one reviewer "a poignant and moving work that makes readers alternately laugh, and weep, and think," and by another "a modern-day adventure story of the first order," 'UNO Prisms' gives an extraordinary first hand account of the university's founding and first 25 years. It is dedicated to all who had a part in the making of UNO during its first quarter of a century.

Parish News

By Rev. B.C. Keller, SVD

Death is not final. Beyond the tomb, God waits to welcome and to transform us. Our life now should witness to that coming kingdom of glory.

The Parish Council wishes to thank all the parishioners for their generous support of the recent basketball tournament. Even though we did not realize the net profit anticipated, we feel the end result was nevertheless praise worthy, due to the untiring support of the contributors and workers.

In the near future we will re-evaluate our parish fund-raising projects. We hope your input will aid us in this endeavor.

Congratulations to the following young people who made the honor rolls at Our Lady's Academy and St. Stanislaus High School including alpha honor roll student Thyra Young, and beta honor roll students Wesley Labat, Emile Hazeur Jr., Darren Hazeur and Angeliue Bell.

The Altar Society thank the members and parishioners who participated in the Palm Sunday breakfast. Special thanks to all who donated food and money. It was the best ever.

Religious instructions will not be held today. Weekday classes will be at 3 p.m. on Monday for grades one and two; on Tuesday for grades three and four, and on Wednesday for grade five. Confirmation classes will be on Monday and Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.

The Gospel Choir will practice on Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.; the Little People Choir, Saturday at 10:30 a.m.

The Little Sisters of the Poor in Mobile thank the parish for the special collection taken to assist them in their work. They were very pleased with the response which is proof that people care about the aged poor. Be assured that you will be remembered daily in the prayers of the Sisters and the residents.

Poplarville native named patrol regional inspector

Maj. Billie T. Hughes says his number one priority as chief inspector of the Mississippi Highway Patrol's southern enforcement region will be to continue to coordinate efforts to remove DUI law violators from the highways.

"The current reduction in traffic fatalities in the State of Mississippi is a direct result of our increased enforcement of DUI laws," said Hughes, who served as commander of the Brookhaven District since April 1980.

Hughes, 43, McComb, was appointed supervisor of the 28-county southern region April 2 by Col. George Saxon, chief of the Highway Patrol.

The region includes districts headquartered in Hattiesburg, Gulfport and Brookhaven.

"Hughes was one of our applicants who competed through the merit promotion system for the position," Saxon said.

The position has been open since January when Saxon vacated it to become chief.

"Since being commissioned into the patrol in September 1964, Hughes has compiled an exceptional record as a trooper in Natchez and McComb, and as district inspector in Brookhaven," Saxon said.

Hughes is an honor graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi with a bachelor of science degree in criminal justice.

He was graduated from the 97th session at the Federal Bureau of Investigation National Academy in Quantico, Va., in 1974.

He earned membership in the academy's "Possible Club" for maintaining a perfect score in firearms proficiency while in training.

Prior to attending USM, Hughes received a 1972 associate of arts degree from Southwest Mississippi Junior College in Summit. He was graduated from McComb High School in 1959.

For six years Hughes served in the Mississippi National Guard, attaining the rank of staff sergeant before his discharge in 1965.

He currently serves as president of the Mississippi Highway Patrol Federal Credit Union board of directors which regulates policy for the 1,100-member organization.

In 1974 the newly named chief inspector was selected by the McComb Jaycees as the "Outstanding Young Law Enforcement Officer of the Year."

His professional affiliations include memberships in the FBA National Academy Associates, the Tennessee-Mississippi Sheriffs and Peace Officers' Association and the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Association.

A native of Poplarville, Hughes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Hughes of Summit. He is married to the former Glendia Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Boyd of McComb.

Hughes is the father of two sons, David, 16 and Daniel, 8. He is a member of Pisgah Methodist Church.

Creative home financing

By Jan Kelly
Area Consumer Management Specialist

This is Part Two of a series on creative home financing. This week we will deal with 'second mortgages,' 'wrap-arounds' and 'Blended mortgages.'

Second Mortgages

The most common technique used for enabling a buyer to assume an existing mortgage is taking out a second mortgage.

This second mortgage might be financed through the seller or a lending institution.

Second mortgages are usually shorter-term loans, for three to five years. They often feature balloon payments. The borrower makes small payments for a short term at the end of which time the entire note is due.

Payments may sometimes be deferred altogether for several years with what is called a 'sleeping second.' This helps when the buyer may have difficulty handling two payments or qualifying for the first mortgage.

Buyers who purchase 'balloon seconds' or 'sleeping seconds' need to beware of the risk of not finding affordable financing when the remaining note is due.

'Wrap-around' Financing

Sometimes lenders and sellers who are unwilling to offer a separate second mortgage will agree to wrap-around financing.

This type of financing is a second mortgage with a note that includes the first mortgage. The buyer makes payments to the wrap lender, who continues to pay off the first mortgage.

Wraps are usually written at interest rates between that of the first mortgage and the current rate. This enables the buyer to receive a lower interest rate. The lender is earning interest on the full amount of the new loan, but using a portion of the payments to pay the remaining first mortgage.

With a wrap-around mortgage, the buyer needs to be certain that the existing loan is being paid according to its terms. Wraps can only be written with assumable first loans.

Blended Mortgages

A new loan offered by a lending institution that 'blends' the below-current interest rate on the existing mortgage with a slightly higher-than-current rate on the remainder is called a 'blended mortgage.'

If the seller does not want to be involved, as with a wrap-around, this may be a better deal than the wrap-around, second mortgage or new market rate loan.

The next article, which will conclude this three-part series on creative home financing, will include 'buy-downs,' 'lease-purchase agreements' and 'lease with an option to buy.'

PVT. DANIEL

Marine Pvt. Charlotte A. Daniel, daughter of Norman J. Green of Ansley Road, and Bernedette M. Wray of 444 Ballentine St. in Bay St. Louis recently completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in Parris Island, S.C.

During the eight-week training cycle, she was introduced to the typical daily routine that she will experience during her enlistment, and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

She participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills including close order drill and first aid. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle, a Marine Corps spokesman says.

AIRMAN MALLAK

His wife, Donita, is the daughter of Gerald L. and Laura Ooten of Kiln.
